

Raid nets drugs, paraphernalia

Sikeston police and the Scott County sheriff's department combined forces early today to conduct a drug raid which resulted in the arrest of six persons and the confiscation of numerous drugs and drug paraphernalia at 720 Vernon St. In the top picture, evidence is shown as it was found in the house. On the left are marijuana plants, in the box at center are plastic bags containing drugs and other controlled substances and on the stereo set is more marijuana plants. This morning all the evidence was studied at Sikeston Police Department (right photo). Shown are plastic bags full of processed marijuana and pills, several packages of cigarette paper, roach clips, a hypodermic syringe and various other drug-related devices. The large tube in the picture is a special pipe used to smoke marijuana.

Marijuana, pills seized

Six arrested in drug raid

A young Sikeston couple and four teenagers were arrested by Sikeston police and Scott County sheriff's officers during an early morning drug raid today on a house at 720 Vernon St.

Being held this morning in city jail were Ronnie Dennis Brown, 23, and his wife, Thelma Dianna Brown, 19, occupants of the raided home, and Sharon Lee Robbins, 18, of Dexter, Debbie Ann Dodge, 17, of Enterprise, Ala., Dana Musgrave, 18, of 227 S. Sassafras, Dexter, and Janice Irene Cook, 17, of Essex Route One.

The raid was staged at 12:30 a.m. after police received a tip that there were drugs at the house.

Several bags of marijuana, some marijuana plants and a quantity of red pills were seized. Also confiscated by police were narcotics paraphernalia, including roach clips, some with marijuana cigarettes still in them, marijuana pipes and a syringe.

Participating in the raid were detectives Dan Hinton and Jack Patterson, Sgt. Richard Couch and Deputy Sheriffs Gerald Inman and Bud Jones.

Scott County Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore also was present at the raid and said charges would be filed today.

Other police arrests announced today included Ricky Rister, 518 E. Gladys, careless and imprudent driving and disorderly conduct; William E. Houseman of 112 South St., Charleston, careless and imprudent driving; and Lester Leroy Pease of Morley, driving while intoxicated.

Area walkathon set for Saturday

"Walk a mile for the life of a child" is the theme of Saturday's first annual United Cerebral Palsy Walkathon for Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid counties.

Registration for the walkathon opens at 8 a.m. Saturday at Kingsway Plaza Mall.

The walk will start at 9 a.m. and, with a police escort, will move through downtown Sikeston and return to Kingsway Plaza Mall.

The walk is open to all who would like to participate and is designed to raise funds to help cerebral palsied persons who can't walk, or must walk with the aid of crutches or braces.

All funds raised go to the United Cerebral Palsy organization to support treatment and training programs, education of professional people to work with the cerebral palsied and research into the causes and prevention of this crippling.

Sikeston man buried under load of cotton

Bobby Ray Hinton, 106 W. Murray Lane, was buried under a load of cotton for about 10 minutes Thursday on the John Parker farm south of Sikeston.

The highway patrol said today that Hinton had fallen asleep in the cotton trailer about 9:30 p.m. and the cotton picker dumped a load of cotton on top of him. As soon as it was discovered that Hinton was under the cotton, the Sikeston Rescue Squad was called to the scene and gave Hinton oxygen. He was revived in about three minutes and taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital for observation.

Sikeston man injured in traffic accident

A Sikeston man was one of two persons injured in two one-vehicle accidents Thursday in the Bootheel area, the highway patrol announced today.

Robert Lee Warren, 48, of Sikeston, was injured at 11:30 p.m. when he ran his pickup truck off the road on a curve into a field on Highway 77 two miles west of Diehlstadt.

He was treated for cuts above the left eye and bruises on the chest and back and released from Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Ola Ferne Lite, 47, of Scott City received a shoulder injury at 6:45 a.m. on Route N two miles south of Illmo when the van she was driving ran down an embankment through a fence and overturned. Mrs. Lite told the patrol that a pickup truck forced her off the road on a curve.

She was taken to Chaffee General Hospital.

Nixon may announce replacement for Cox

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon planned a radio-television news conference for 7 p.m. EDT today amid growing signs he is considering naming a new special Watergate prosecutor.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren announced at a news briefing the time and format for the session postponed from Thursday because of Middle East developments. The Thursday news conference originally had been announced after Nixon cancelled a planned televised address to the nation for Wednesday night.

Warren refused to say whether Nixon planned to use the East Room news conference as a forum to announce a successor for fired Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

"I'm not going to pre-empt the President," Warren said.

Questions at the news conference appear certain to center on the Cox firing, Nixon's subsequent decision to turn the Watergate tape recordings over to a federal judge and on the now-ebbed crisis in the Middle East that prompted him to place U.S. forces worldwide on alert.

As Nixon secluded himself in his Executive Office Building suite to prepare for the news conference, indications mounted that he was moving to name a replacement for Cox.

His chief domestic adviser, Melvin R. Laird, told a Chicago news conference Thursday that a new Watergate prosecutor likely will be named. Laird's statement was made as it became evident that Congress will not settle for a Justice Department probe of the stillswirling Watergate scandal.

At the Justice Department, a spokesman said Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork has sent the White House a list of recommended nominees for the job of special prosecutor and planned to send more.

But the spokesman declined to say if Bork is urging the appointment of a prosecutor independent of the Justice Department, as Cox had been.

In another development, an aide to U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica said the White House Watergate tapes Nixon agreed to surrender may be delivered to the judge shortly — perhaps even before this weekend.

Meanwhile, there were new disclosures in cases involving Nixon's close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, and the alleged milk-price deal between the administration and the dairy industry.

Laird said he would prefer to keep the Watergate probe in the Justice Department, where it was placed after Cox was fired last week.

But he conceded that "because it's a question of great public concern" a new prosecutor probably will be appointed.

Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford, the GOP leader in the House, and House Republican Conference Chairman John B. Anderson of Illinois, said a majority of their colleagues want Nixon to name a special prosecutor.

Residents fight location of landfill near Illmo

BENTON— Disatisfied landowners and residents of the Illmo, Scott City and Commerce area appeared before the Scott County Court Thursday to protest the proposed location of a Mississippi County landfill on 80 acres of land owned by Herb Pickett of rural Illmo.

It was first learned by the group last week that Mississippi County had entered into a contract with an option to buy the Pickett land (formerly the Albert Meinzen farm).

The objecting landowners have circulated petitions and have reportedly obtained more than 500 signatures in opposition to the landfill location.

One of the main objections brought out by the group is that a watershed from this land will pollute Holden Creek which runs through adjoining land and is used to water livestock.

The Court told the group nothing could be done to prevent Mississippi County from operating a landfill in Scott County as long as it complied with legal requirements.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Steve Taylor suggested that the opposition group contact an attorney to determine possible solutions, if any, to stop operation of the landfill. He added that it is a civil matter and outside the scope of the prosecuting attorney's office.

Second District Judge Louis Hirschowitz said Mississippi County has only filed an application for a landfill and has not received a permit.

The group then appointed a grievance committee to take whatever action is deemed necessary to prevent the landfill from being developed.

East Prairie wins betterment award

EAST PRAIRIE— A star in the planning and zoning category of the Community Betterment Program has been awarded to the city of East Prairie, according to local Community Betterment chairman James Barnhill who received notification from Jerry D. Shirley of Jefferson City, Southeast area specialist of the Missouri Community Betterment Program.

East Prairie met the criteria for the star by establishing a planning and zoning commission in 1969, working with the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission in the development of a comprehensive plan for the city in 1972 and adopting zoning ordinances and subdivision regulations in March of this year.

The city had previously earned a star in the education category and has applied for a third star in the area of parks and recreation, Barnhill said.

3 fires are fought

Firemen fought three fires Thursday, including two mattress fires and a cotton gin blaze.

A fire broke out in a bed at 10:50 p.m. in the Chester Sweeney home, 417 Prosperity, and damaged the bedroom of the home. Smoke damage was also reported throughout the house.

Cause of the blaze was unknown, firemen said.

A child playing with a lighter is blamed for setting a mattress on fire at the Donald Dodson home, 206

Illinois Ave., about 9:10 p.m. The fire damaged the bed, and smoke damage in the rest of the house, firemen said.

A pile of cotton caught fire at 2:35 p.m. at Farmers Gin Co. in Vanduser, according to Sikeston firemen, who were called to the scene. The blaze was reportedly started when flames from brush burning in nearby fence row ignited the cotton.

About 18 bales of cotton were destroyed before the fire was brought under control.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

If you have hay fever, there is compensation in finding someone who has it harder.

Someone was kind enough to give the Editor a copy of the Enterprise-Courier and Charleston Times for Thursday, September 9, 1937. On the front page it had a picture of the sheriffs of the county for the past 28 years. It shows that the front row are J. O. King, C.
D. Jackson; back row, Walter Beck, the present sheriff; Jesse Jackson, Howell King. Now I have had the pleasure of knowing these gentlemen and I was really glad to get this paper, as a matter of fact I went through it from the front cover to the back, of course it was section 5 of this Centennial Edition and I don't know why they didn't bring me the whole paper, but anyway I enjoyed reading it and it was full of news as is the Enterprise-Courier of today. I appreciate it very much receiving the same, because I'm at the age where nostalgia really works for me and that's what that paper brought back to me.

MAYBE THEY NEED A DEPRESSION

"Em" and "M" (Emmett & Margaret) Engesser, Editors and Publishers of THE NEW RICHLAND (Minnesota) STAR write that a few weeks ago when they were in Whitehall, New York, they witnessed a disgraceful episode in front of Our Lady of Angels Church when gangs of teenagers gathered on the steps of the church and littered the area with beer cans and assorted trash. Apparently, the Engessers say, this nightly gathering of hoodlums and delinquents has been going on for some weeks, but it reached a climax when they attempted to set fire to bottled gas tanks adjoining the church and dumping cans of paint on the sidewalk, proceeded to walk through it and tracked it up and down the street.

It occurs to us that there is nothing wrong with those kids that a good depression wouldn't cure. If they were down to one pair of shoes, which they would have to wear to work, to church, and to school, and if that one pair of shoes had holes in the bottom covered with a piece of cardboard, you can bet your bottom penny that they wouldn't be tracking through paint or any other liquid dumped on the sidewalks. In the second place, they wouldn't have had the money to buy the paint -- unless, of course, they stole it. And in the third place, they would be in fear of their lives should they go home with their only pair of shoes (holes or no holes) covered with paint!

Said the Engessers: "Most of these kids came from what is generally considered respectable families. But if their parents let them get away with it, they deserve all the trouble which will eventually descend upon their heads."

People are not so dishonest as claimed: half the animals advertised as stolen have only strayed.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk musings of a Pavement Plato:

So you are one among the half of the world's population who suffer from chronic boredom.

And you want to do something about it? Well, it isn't an easy problem to solve, but perhaps we can offer a few suggestions.

First, it is necessary to find out what is causing your boredom and, second, to consider means of getting rid of it.

Perhaps the culprit is your hobby. Oddly enough, the hobbies that people take up to add another interest to their lives often become a curse in time. I know of a fellow who took up stamp collecting for a hobby on the advice of his psychiatrist. Soon he hated stamps so much that he became bilious at the sight of a stamped envelope, and he had to retire from business.

Then he went to a chiropractor, who advised him to take up girl watching as a hobby, as it would provide good exercise for his arthritic neck. My friend did this and says he hasn't had a moment of boredom since, except during a few weekend blizzards when he wasn't able to leave the house.

Another common but unrecognized cause of boredom, particularly in America, is pseudo culture. We are bombarded to mental numbness by too many pompos after-dinner speakers, lecturers, and literary lions, confused by esoteric book critics, religious cultists, gurus, famous television personalities and professional athletic

Perhaps those feelings would go away if we spent more time sitting on park benches debating with the squirrels or pigeons or hanging around an old-fashioned pool hall listening to the snappy chatter of the dudes gathered there.

Marriage is blamed by some cowardly husbands for their boredom. I believe wives are the most interesting of all conversations. If a man is bored by a wife's conversation, I feel, he should get up and leave her and go home and listen to his own wife for a change. He might find her conversation far less boring.
Anyway, he's always safer in his own home.

Finally, we come to the crux of the whole problem of boredom. This is that fact that most people are bored, not by other people or other things, but with themselves.

Yes, it is likely that you — bright, warm-hearted, intelligent, highly talented little old you — are the architect and chief source of your own boredom.

And if you are boring yourself, the chances are that you are boring most of those around you. Think that over.
Then do something.

Anything that's a change. Have your face lifted, have your heart lifted, change in bright ways. Be new to yourself, and you'll be new to others.

But, above all, get rid of selfpity. For it is the people who feel sorry for themselves who sit on the loneliest thrones in the kingdom of boredom.

EAGLETON KEEPS
SMILING

By T. Wayne Mitchell
Jefferson City
Correspondent

St. Louis — Fears of some Missouri Democrats that the popularity of Sen. Thomas F.
Eagleton in his home state might begin to decline by late 1973 are being allayed as Eagleton goes about the business of raising funds to support his re-election campaign.

More than 1,800 persons have given about $220,000 to attend the first two of three scheduled fund-raising dinners.
The third is to be Nov. 2 in Jefferson City.

Some Missouri Democrats
had predicted that Eagleton's popularity would sharply decline by late 1973 as the electorate gradually forgot the sympathy it had for him after he was dumped as the vice-presidential nominee last year.

Earlier this year concern was expressed in some Democratic circles that Eagleton was in a vulnerable position and that he might face a primary challenge from former Gov. Warren E.
Hearnes.

But more than 800 persons who attended a $150-a-plate fund-raising affair in St. Louis Tuesday night gave the impression of not being just a typical bored political dinner crowd.

Much of that enthusiasm may be spawned by Eagleton himself whose relaxed nature and sharp wit compel folks he barely knows to call him
"Tom" rather than "senator."

Eagleton appears to be trying to give Missourians the idea that he is the same Tom Eagleton who the voters sent to Washington and that he is unchanged by the events that cast him in the national political spotlight last year.

Eagleton discussed humor and the necessity for a nation to keep its humor in troubled times Tuesday night. He told a few jokes and poked fun at himself and his family in a short speech after 1 minute talks by eight other U. S. senators who flew in from Washington for the dinner.

"Humor — amongst other things that is what we're short of these days," Eagleton said, advising the audience to be happy. "In every field of human endeavor we have our problems. I think our basic problem is we can no longer laugh as we did here tonight."

"We all have those things that cross our life that cause a bit of anxiety; indeed we all have our ups and downs," Eagleton joked, adding, "I don't mean that in the medical sense; that's called an inside joke."

Eagleton's remarks
followed a mood of fun and gaiety set by the Democratic senators who preceded him at the podium. For instance, Sen.
Richard Clark, a freshman Democrat from Iowa, said he had only been in Washington since January, "but I haven't seen so many senators in one place as I have here tonight since I've been in Washington."

And Sen. Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) quipped, "while Tom and I don't always vote alike I would like to say that I'm a full 66 per cent behind him."

Sen. James Abourezk
(D-S.D.) added that Eagleton only went to the Senate for one reason: "Because his father-in-law wanted him to meet Barry Goldwater."

Other senators attending last night included Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), William D.
Hathaway (D-Maine), Lawton
Chiles (D-Fla.), Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.) and Claiborne Pell (D-R.I.). Other political figures were present, including former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes and George Lehr, Jackson county executive.

VALUE BEYOND
MEASUREMENT

A release of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, entitled
"commentaries", contains an article adapted from the first in a series of projected papers dealing with the achievements of pharmaceutical research.

The subject is tuberculosis, and the progress that has been made in its treatment by chemotherapy. Tuberculosis is another one of those formerly dread diseases that, like polio, has been reduced to such a point that few today are able to grasp the threat it once posed to the lives and health of millions of human beings.

"In 1905", reports
"commentaries", "tuberculosis was the nation's number one killer; in 1971 it ranked 23rd ... This significant progress has come about as a result of contribution to the management of tuberculosis by the research - oriented pharmaceutical industry and the federal government. Their cumulative efforts have yielded improved methods of detection, the antitubercular vaccination and, most important, the discovery and use of new antitubercular medicines." Of the $600 million research program conducted by the pharmaceutical industry in 1971, a considerable portion was devoted to developing even more effective medicines for treatment of tuberculosis.

Thanks to this type of continuing research by the drug industry, the last two decades have seen the incidence of tuberculosis reduced by 32 per cent and the number of patients
hospitalized for the disease by 70 per cent.

Here is just one example of the contribution that the research - oriented prescription drug industry has made to the physical - and economic - well-being of people everywhere. There is no way of measuring the value of this kind of massive advance in the state of human welfare. Nor is there any way of measuring the

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Why Nixon Fired Cox
WASHINGTON—The real reason President Nixon fired the special Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, was to prevent the investigation from getting any closer to the oval office.

Sources who have heard the President express his misgivings say he became convinced Cox was out to get him. He believed the "Kennedy crowd" had taken over the special prosecutor's office and was embarked upon a "political witch hunt."

This area was fostered by former presidential aides who, themselves, expected to be prosecuted by Cox. Such Watergate figures as H. R.
Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and Charles Colson spread the word around the White House that Cox was really aiming at the President.

Embattled and suspicious, Nixon was easy to persuade and he began to feel Cox's hot breath on his neck. Two recent developments finally convinced him that he would have to fire Cox.

BADGERED MACGREGOR
First, the President heard that the special prosecutors had badgered his former campaign manager, Clark MacGregor, for refusing to corroborate incriminating testimony from ex-FBI chief L. Patrick Gray.

In telling about a telephone warning to the President that his top aides might be implicated in the Watergate crimes, Gray swore he had discussed this with MacGregor.
When MacGregor failed to support Gray's story, the prosecutors allegedly gave him a rough going-over.

Second, the President learned that Cox's bloodhounds were trying to link a $100,000 contribution from billionaire Howard Hughes to the purchase of the Nixon estates at Key Biscayne, Fla., and San Clemente, Calif.

The money was delivered in $100 bills to the President's friend, Bebe Rebozo, who claimed he returned the full amount after keeping it in a safety deposit box for three years.

that the President had no knowledge of the $100,000 payment until it came under investigation.

HARD TO BELIEVE

At a White House press briefing, a reporter noted that the President "has spent a great deal of time with Mr. Rebozo.
Does the President and do you really expect the American people to believe that in all those years of the most frequent and intimate contact that Mr. Rebozo never told the President he had this money in his box?"

"Yes," insisted spokesman Gerald Warren, "because it happens to be true."

But Kalmbach tended to dispute this when he was interrogated behind closed doors by both the special prosecutors and Senate investigators. He had been sent by former White House aide John Ehrlichman to speak to Las Vegas publisher Hank Greenspun about Donald Nixon's involvement with the Hughes organization, said Kalmbach.

At their first meeting on October 12, 1971, Greenspun told us he raised the $100,000 question and asked about rumors that the money had been diverted to San Clemente.

REPORTED TO EHRlichman

Kalmbach told the prosecutors, however, that he didn't recall discussing the $100,000 contribution at the first meeting but remembered Greenspun had brought it up at a subsequent breakfast meeting on June 31, 1972. Kalmbach acknowledged that he "probably" gave Ehrlichman a full report afterward.

Apparently, both Rebozo and Ehrlichman knew,
therefore, that the phantom billionaire had slipped $100,000 in cash to Rebozo for Nixon's use. Rebozo and Ehrlichman were also aware value of a system that permits industry to operate in an atmosphere of freedom of inquiry that encourages change, progress and the pushing back of scientific frontiers.

UNDERSTANDING THE MARKETPLACE

With power goes responsibility. Proliferating consumer protection laws have,
for all practical purposes, vested in the public wide supervisory powers over the day-to-day operations of the U. S. economic system. Thus, it is up to the public to a greater extent than ever before to insist that public regulation be exercised in a responsible manner. To do this, it must understand the philosophy and functioning of such things as the free market. It must understand in general terms the principals of high-volume, mass-retail distribution and the legitimate role of promotion and advertising.

In an interesting radio interview, an authority on the trading stamp business, Dr.
Eugene Beem who has conducted intensive research on the trading stamp form of promotion, presents some hard facts. These facts show that nearly 80 per cent of American consumers save trading stamps.

They also show that consumers are becoming more demanding in terms of the merchandise they expect when they turn their stamps in for redemption.
Consumers recognize that the stamps have a unique value and will settle for nothing less than the best. Another point revealed by Dr. Beem is that,
"Many of those that are very sensitive to the stamp idea, are absolutely insistent today, that the places where they shop have low prices, competitive prices, as well as stamps, and if our merchants do not have competitive prices they won't get the patronage of these people."

So much for the old cliché that there is a distinct price differential between a stamp-giving store and a nonstampgiving store. Competition, the greater leveler of prices, extinguishes any such differential. Any merchant that wishes to stay in business must engage in some form of promotion as a method of stimulating the highest possible volume of sales at minimum prices. Failure to take cognizance of these facts in the exercise of public regulatory powers is nothing less than irresponsible.

UNIFORM HIGHWAY
MARKINGS, FINALLY

New symbols, similar to those used internationally, are gradually replacing word messages on road signs and throughout the United States to provide instant, keep us cold this winter, we're unambiguous safety going to information to drivers. The changeover is to be completed by the end of 1974.

Also being standardized are sign colors — red for stop or prohibited maneuver, yellow for caution or general warning, and so on.

Another small change which should reap great dividends in highway safety is the standardization of center, edge and lane striping.

Since more than 70 per cent of this country's two-lane secondary roads — where we do most of our driving and where two-thirds of our accidents occur — remain unmarked, color
standardization of highway striping "is the most significant new dimension in pavement markings to date," according to John P. Manley, executive vice president of a company which manufactures reflective glass spheres used in striping pavements.

This is what they call
the "Morse Code of Highway Safety":
Yellow will be the only color used for centerline markings indicating traffic moving in both directions.
White will be used for lanes of traffic moving in the same direction and to indicate pavement edges.

On two-lane highways, a broken yellow centerline indicates passing permitted, with due caution for oncoming traffic. Double solid yellow lines mean no passing in either direction. A broken yellow line next to a solid yellow line

Thieves knock woman down

A woman was knocked down early today by two boys who broke into her home and took $10 from her purse.

Police said Cindy Brown, 213 Felker, told them that she heard someone breaking into the house through the back door about 1:20 a.m. She said she got out of bed and went to the bedroom door. She said two boys pushed open the door and knocked her to the floor.

She said she got up and ran to the house next door where she phoned the police. The burglars took $10 from her purse.

Kevin Waters, 123 Terrace Drive, told police that someone took a tape player from his car sometime Wednesday while it was parked at the high school. The player was valued at $35.

Yes, Gwendolyn, you might say that a miser is a sort of dough nut.

Fertilizer price controls lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move aimed at increasing food production the government Thursday lifted price controls from the fertilizer industry.

And, at the same time, the Agriculture Department reported that the cost of food declined markedly last month.

Despite the action freeing fertilizer prices, however, John T. Dunlop, director of the Cost of Living Council, said he opposes lifting controls from all industries because consumers need the protection.

If controls were lifted this year, as big labor and big business have demanded in recent weeks, Dunlop said there would be a "magnitude of price increases that would be unsatisfactory."

It was the first time a top administration spokesman had said he favored keeping the controls program beyond the end of the year. Congressional authority for wage-price controls expires next April unless the administration seeks a renewal.

Consumers received some encouraging price news Thursday when the Agriculture Department announced that its market-basket index of food costs declined $24 in September, the biggest monthly drop in 17 years.

The cost of an entire year's food supply for a hypothetical household of 3.2 persons was $1,629 in September, down from the record high $1,653 in August.

Put another way, the hypothetical household had to pay 46 cents less per week in September to buy the same amount of farm-produced groceries it bought in August. The weekly September food bill came to $31.33.

The fertilizer industry became the first major industry to be released from the Phase 4 price control program since it was imposed in August. Wages for workers in the industry also were freed.

But in exchange for lifting of controls, Dunlop said he won commitments from major fertilizer companies to increase domestic supply by about 5 per cent during the next nine months by diverting fertilizer they had planned to export.

Woods draws 5 year probation

CHARLESTON— Gary Wayne Woods, 28, of East Prairie was placed on five-year probation Wednesday in Circuit Court by Judge Marshall Craig, who had sentenced Woods to five years in custody of the State Department of Corrections on Oct. 9 on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the March 24 shooting death of Manuel Gilliam.

Wayne Dalton Riggsby was placed on two-year probation following his probation investigation. He had previously been sentenced to two years in custody of the State Department of Corrections on a burglary charge and two years on a stealing charge in connection with a June 16 break-in at Turnbo's Tavern in East Prairie.

Robert Peterson of East Prairie was fined $100 and received a suspended 30-day jail sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of issuing a fraudulent check to Turnbo's Tavern on May 21. Peterson's jail sentence was suspended upon restitution of the $15 check and payment of his fine and court costs.

A damage suit, brought by Richard and Schree Gourley against Hurdie Boyd, doing business as Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Kennett, was dismissed with prejudice by the plaintiffs.

8 treated for injuries

Eight accident patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Ronald Sindle, 15, Oran, injured chin playing basketball; Brenda Tyrone, 24, Sikeston, cut right forearm on glass door; Timothy Church, 11, Sikeston, injured left wrist in fall at school; Jo Ellen Francis, 26, Sikeston stepped in hole and turned and sprained right ankle.

"Right man" wants to live in his mother's back yard

Dear Ann Landers: I just came from a funeral. It was a sad one. She was only 51 years old. The husband knelt down, kissed his wife's cheek and whispered, "Goodbye, honey." It was very touching—but it touched me more than those present who didn't know the couple well.

They had lived next door to us for 15 years. He called her plenty of names, but "honey" wasn't one of them. You couldn't print the ones he called her most often. And she really didn't deserve the abuse. Ann. She was a wonderful woman.

How many husbands who read this column are going to wait until their wives die before they call them "honey"? Why not start tonight, when she can still hear you?—End Of A Tragic Day

Dear Friend: Your letter is bound to have special meaning to certain readers. In behalf of them, I thank you.

Dear Ann Landers: I was reared in a wonderful home where I learned that marriage is forever. I have tried to live a decent life and have been waiting for the right man to come along.

Several months ago I met the man I was sure was the answer to my prayers. He is kind, intelligent, wonderful company and has a thriving business. He said he had been waiting all his life for a girl like me.

We set the wedding date and I bought my honeymoon luggage and wardrobe. We agreed to buy a house midway between his business and my job, which, incidentally, I love. Last week he informed me that the house deal was off, that his mother had rented a house for us and FURNISHED it. (The house is almost in her back yard.)

I told him I didn't want to live there. It looks terrible from the outside. (I have not been allowed to go in because his mother hasn't finished furnishing it.) I'd have to drive 60 miles a day if we lived in that house and the thought of it exhausts me.

My future mother-in-law doesn't care for me and I know it. Her other son's wife doesn't speak to her. She seems to have trouble with everyone. I love this man and I don't know what to do. Please hurry your advice.—Embattled In Missouri

Dear E.: If you lose this battle you've lost the war. Tell your future husband that unless he is willing to honor the original house agreement—his future just passed. If he lets you go, you never really had him.

Dear Ann Landers: When are you going to stop printing garbage and start dealing with problems of substance? I am sick and tired of wading through junk in the hope of finding something of value. I become especially annoyed when those cows write to say they enjoy being fat and their husbands like them that way. In the meantime they feel lousy half the time and keep pacifying themselves with banana splits.

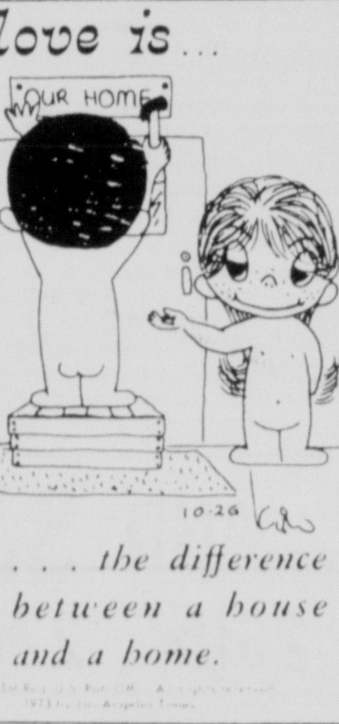

Those teen-age idiots have a lot of nerve wasting your valuable time. Kids don't listen to anybody over 30 anyway. Please don't print any more foolishness like that letter from the 14-year-old girl who had hair on her upper lip. That's a problem?—Panhandle Henry

Dear Pan: It's a problem if you happen to be a 14-year-old girl with hair on your upper lip. Thanks for the advice, Dad, but if readers of ANY age think they have a problem then they have one. Too many people don't feel a thing, unless it's their ox that's being gored.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers's booklet, "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." For a copy, mail 35c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Final services set at Nazarene site

First Church of the Nazarene will hold its final Sunday services at its facilities on the corner of Scott and Trotter streets this Sunday, according to the Rev. Coy O Presson, pastor.

The following Sunday, Nov. 4, and thereafter, the services will be conducted in the church's new facilities on North Main Street. The move to the new site has been awaiting completion of construction of a new educational wing onto the building purchased last year from Northside Church of Christ.

Final services in the old plant Sunday will begin with Sunday School at 9:45 a.m. and include worship services at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Gene Hinz will sing during both worship services, and the Teen Heartbeats will also sing at the evening service.

First Church of the Nazarene was organized in 1918 and has worshipped in the building at the Scott and Trotter location for approximately 40 years.

The first miracle performed by Jesus was the changing of water into wine at the wedding feast at Cana of Galilee.

Witnesses to convene

Nov. 3 and 4 at Arnold

Jehovah's Witnesses of Southeast Missouri have chosen Arnold as the assembly site for their semi-annual Bible convention on Nov. 3 and 4, according to Russell Knauer, an overseer of the Sikeston congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses.

"We eagerly look forward to these faith-strengthening events held similarly by God's chosen nation of centuries past, Israel. It will provide an opportunity for each of us to examine our goals and purposes in life and determine if our thinking agrees with God's."

The featured speaker of the convention will be Denis Raftopoulos of the New York headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses. On Nov. 4 at 2 p.m., Raftopoulos will deliver the public address, "Act Wisely As The End Draws Near."

An important feature of the convention will be the baptism of new members, and those baptized will join the 1.7 million other adherents of Jehovah's Witnesses.

The site of the convention is the Fox High School gymnasium. The sessions start at 9 a.m. Nov. 3.

Scripture: Romans 8

VICTORY in SUFFERING

A nationally known poet, at the age of 92, said "Death will be amazing and beautiful and astonishing."

John G. Neimardt, poet laureate of Nebraska, said he believed "in the continuation of life, so there's no letting go. Death will be a marvelous adventure, beautiful and amazing."

Here, then, is a splendid example of how the Christian lives in the joyous confidence of final victory. The poet suggested that persons pray, but added, "Don't ask for something for yourself, something selfish, because you can't pray that way. Try praying to understand."

Paul would have appreciated this philosophy. These views help us to understand how to meet suffering and to grow in appreciation of God's love.

God's love defeats all enemies, although there are times that we have difficulty in understanding this. His love is active for all those who love him.

When we review the Bible and read about what God has done and is doing for us in Christ, our confidence in the future becomes greater.

Paul has been advising us in recent lessons about God's work for sin-ridden humanity. He has discussed our fundamental disharmony with God, the dominance of sin and death, and the continuing challenge of sin.

God does not, however, guarantee exemption from suffering and death.

Paul offers some hope when he writes "the sufferings we now endure bear no comparison with the splendour, as yet unrevealed, which is in store for us." To others, sufferings draw man closer to God.

There can be dangers from praying to be delivered from all hardships. What does a possession mean to us if we have "loved" it? We all know persons who have become greater through overcoming hardship and suffering.

Our love for God will grow only as we pour out our devotions to him. Eventually, we will all be separated from everything we own and from everyone we know. But we will never be separated from God's love.

Poet Neimardt said that he was "part of my God as a handpick, part of the sea, Frater take you to that conception," and when we pray sincerely, "there's a loss of the conception of the petty self and a gaining of something vastly more interesting."

Paul never promised the new Christian a life without suffering. Apparently he felt discouraged at times he suffered physically; he turned to prayers for guidance.

The Rev. Remond Nienair wrote many years ago about man's fear of death and his sense of guilt. He said our "religious faith is always put to the test by the crises of history." To him, a vital religion "preserves a sense of ultimate majesty and meaning."

About forty years ago Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, then over 90 years old, urged persons to "meet trouble as a friend." He told young people that "if you want to live without trouble, you'll have to die young." One couldn't run away from trouble, so he should "have faith and do the needful."

Paul promised that nothing, not even death, will be able to separate us from the love of God.

It is difficult for many to accept the idea that "it is only suffering that makes us persons." It obviously is a test of our faith and, like any test, the higher our scores the better our future.

First Assembly plans special day

The Rev. Theodore E. Gannon of Springfield will be guest minister at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, Sunday morning for homecoming and eighth anniversary services for the Rev. T. A. McDonough, pastor.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODY ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE 106. The Story of the Trees

After Gideon won his great victories, he lived out his life in peace, fathering 70 sons in addition to Abimelech, the son of his concubine in Shechem. When Gideon died, however, the people turned away from God and Gideon's family to worship idols.

On a visit to his uncle in Shechem, Abimelech asked them if they would be ruled by 70 kings (Gideon's sons) or by him—their own kinsman. His uncle persuaded the leaders of Shechem to crown Abimelech because he was the son of a native woman. Given the money to recruit some worthless followers, Abimelech and his henchmen slew on a stone at his father's house in Ophrah the 70 sons of Gideon, except Jotham, the youngest son who hid himself.

Jotham, hearing that Abimelech was now king, stood atop Mount Gerizim and shouted across to the men of Shechem the following fable of the trees: Once, the trees sought to anoint a king over them. They first asked the olive tree to reign over them, but it refused. In turn, the fig tree and the grapevine also declined. Finally, all the trees turned to the bramble. "And the bramble said unto the trees, If in truth ye anoint me king over you, then come and put your trust in my shadow; and if not, let fire come out of the bramble and devour the cedars of Lebanon." (Judges 9:15)

Then Jotham explained that if the men of Shechem had done truly, they should rejoice in Abimelech's kingship; and if not, fire should come out of Shechem and of Abimelech, devouring them all.

Jenkins, McCovey traded

Ferguson Jenkins, who wasn't sure if he wanted to play anymore, and Willie McCovey, who was sure he wasn't playing enough, both suffered the same fate.

They were traded to last place clubs.

Jenkins, a 20-game winner for six straight seasons with the Chicago Cubs before falling to 14-16 this year, was dealt Thursday to the Texas Rangers, the last-place team in the American League West, for Bill Madlock and Vic Harris.

McCovey, who has blasted 413 career homers for the San Francisco Giants, but was critical of Manager Charlie Fox for benching him in 1973, was traded to the San Diego Padres, the last place club in the National League West, for pitcher Mike Caldwell.

In addition, the Padres will receive minor league outfielder Bernie Williams.

In other baseball developments, American League President Joe Cronin asked Detroit for details on the signing of Manager Ralph Houk from the New York Yankees and slugger Frank Howard was given his release by the Tigers.

Jenkins, 29, the National League's Cy Young Award winner in 1971, said in mid-season that he just didn't feel like playing baseball.

New Ranger manager, Billy Martin said of the trade:

"Jenkins gives us the stopper we needed desperately. 'He's a workhorse and he's a winner. Getting Jenkins is the first big step toward establishing our pitching staff and turning things around for the Rangers."

Jenkins, who lives in Canada, was not available for comment.

Cub Manager Whitey Lockman viewed the trade as part of Chicago's "youth and speed" movement. Of infielder-outfielder Madlock, 22, he said:

"Our scouts are extremely high on him as being one of the best hitting prospects they have seen in some time."

Harris, 23, played centerfield and second base for the Rangers.

On the other hand, McCovey was displeased because he wasn't playing enough baseball.

The 15-year veteran said last July that he shouldn't "have to prove anything to anybody and added: "If you don't think I can still do the job, ask the opposition and see what they say."

In a part-time role, the lefthanded hitting McCovey managed 29 homers.

"I decided I would rather play in San Diego than anywhere else," the 35-year-old McCovey said by phone from his San Francisco home. "I know I can help the Padres. I just hope they don't leave San Diego."

McCovey, plagued by knee and foot injuries throughout much of his career, led the National League in homers in 1968 and 1969, and tied Hank Aaron for the homer title in 1963.

Caldwell, 24, was used mostly in relief last season and had a 5-14 record with a 3.74 earned run average.

Howard, 37, whose 382 career homers gave him the 17th spot on the all-time list, was given his release.

Jim Campbell, Tiger executive vice president and general manager, said he offered the affable Howard a job as a minor league manager in the Detroit chain but Howard turned it down.

The Tigers thought they had a manager when Ralph

Houk resigned as manager of the Yankees and then was signed to manage Detroit.

But AL President Joe Cronin has decided to take a look into the situation.

"I have written the Tigers for details and more information regarding the signing of Ralph Houk," Cronin told The Associated Press. "The New York Yankees have asked me for a ruling on the signing of Houk."

The latest maneuvering apparently stems from a refusal by Oakland owner Charles O. Finley to allow the managerless Yankees to talk with former A's manager Dick Williams unless the A's are adequately compensated.

Sports Corner

By Ron Jaynes

The Daily Standard's newest addition to its sports staff, Dianne Ezzell and Stuart McGhee, rank among the top three in our weekly guessing game of picking the winners in high school football.

Danny Summerfield the leading prognosticator had his worst night of the season last week when he missed three out of nine and his average dipped to 85.1. Stuart is second with an 84.4 mark and Dianne is third with an 82.6 percentage.

Joining our leading trio this week are John Greer, Mike Gentry, Bobby Gentry, Jerry Gentry, Eddie Smart and the old pro.

We hope more of you will try your luck next week.

Now for a look at tonight's guesses.....

Charleston vs. East Prairie-- It's unanimous!!!! well almost...The Bluejays are 9-0 favorites to extend their winning streak, but Danny has the Eagles breaking the CHS scoreless streak...It should end something like 35-0.

Jackson vs. Festus-- Another unanimous prediction!!! And its the second of seven tonight...Little is known about Festus, but a whole lot is known about the Indians...and they're tough. Jackson 21, Festus 7.

Poplar Bluff vs. Dexter-- This could turn out to be one of the big surprises of the season...Don't underestimate the Bearcats...The Mules might still be basking in the glory of last week's victory over Cape Central and overlook the Bearcats...It's doubtful though...PBHS 28, Dexter 0.

Cape Central vs. Sikeston-- Coach Terry Smith's Bulldogs, riddled by injury and an inconsistent offense all season, head into the home stretch of their season tonight and things don't look too promising. Cape is coming off their first league loss in five years and will be trying to assemble another streak at the expense of the Bulldogs...Cape is a unanimous pick, but watch for the surprises...Cape 21, Sikeston 7.

Perryville vs. Kennett-- The Pirates are 9-0 favorites...Kennett has had its trouble since its season opener and will continue to encounter those same problems in this battle...PHS 28, Kennett 7.

Illmo-Scott City vs. Hayti-- Coach Bill Wilthong says this will be his teams toughest test of the season...The Rams are unanimous picks to win, but the majority of the panel does have the Indians breaking I-SC's scoreless streak...I-SC 21, HHS 6.

South Pemiscot vs. Gideon-- This traditional battle of the Bulldogs has been exciting over the years and tonight's clash shouldn't be any different. The South is favored 7-2, but I've joined with Mr. Smart in going with the Gideon squad...GHS 14, South Pem. 6.

Caruthersville vs. Portageville-- This is another clash that always produces a close score and tough competition...The Bulldogs are 5-4 favorites...I see it...CHS 14, PHS 13.

Chaffee vs. Malden-- The Green Wave are 6-3 favorites to claim their first victory of the season...I'll agree. MHS 13, Chaffee 7.

Doniphan vs. Rector, Ark.-- The last of our unanimous picks this week...Little is known about the Dons Arkansas opponents...Doniphan should prevail 15-14.

That's all folks....

I would like to extend my congratulations to my BABY brother, Roger, on his marriage to Ronda Lynn Edwards of Lilbourn. The ceremony will take place at 7 p.m. tonight...Good luck little...brother.

or part of the five-mile course is asked to get others to serve as a sponsor who will contribute a designated amount for each mile walked.

Walkers will pass through checkpoints along the route and have their route cards stamped. When the walk is over, the walker shows his route card to his sponsors, who will pay the amount earned by the walker to the United Cerebral Palsy fund.

The pledge walk is a community involvement activity which gives each citizen an opportunity to aid cerebral palsy victims in a unique way.

People who have not registered and are interested in doing so may use the registration form on the classified advertising page of today's Daily Standard. People may also obtain information about the walkathon by phoning 471-1978 or 471-5706.

Cerebral palsy is the nation's one child crippler. It results from brain damage, usually at birth. Each year 25,000 babies are born with cerebral palsy.

In the United States more than 750,000 people, young and old, are crippled by cerebral palsy.

It was our priveledge to have had a part in the construction of this beautiful building. Our congratulations TO THE TRI-COUNTY BANK FOR THEIR MATTHEWS FACILITY and the service it will provide for the Matthews Community.
